

Research Frontiers at the Nexus of Domestic and International Politics

November 3, 2006

Eliot 300, Weidenbaum Center

 Washington University in St. Louis.

(Sponsored by the Center for New Institutional Social Sciences)

- 8:50 a.m. Welcome by Itai Sened and Andy Sobel
- 9:00 a.m. Keynote: Wendy Hansen, University of New Mexico
Antidumping in Perspective
- 10:00 a.m. Break
- 10:15 a.m. Joel Simmons, University of Michigan
Time Horizons and the Political Economy of Technological Development
- 11:15 a.m. Break
- 11:30 a.m. Julia Gray, University of California-Los Angeles
The Company You Keep: How Membership in International Institutions Can Make Developing Countries Look Less Risky
- 1:10 p.m. Comments by Ed Macias, Executive Vice Chancellor and Dean of Arts & Sciences, Dean of the Faculty of Arts & Sciences
- 1:15 p.m. Irfan Nooruddin, Ohio State University
Unstable Politics: Fiscal Space and Electoral Volatility in the Indian States
- 2:15 p.m. Break
- 2:30 p.m. Sonal Pandya, Harvard University
Trading Spaces: The Political Economy of Foreign Direct Investment Regulation